

GOLD BOOK WINNERS – Friday 16th November

RECEPTION:

Tom Hampstead-Taylor – For his fabulous attitude to learning this week. This is having a clear effect on his work and he is enjoying reading and writing 3 letter words.

Leilan Smith – For trying hard and persevering with his name writing. Also, for being enthusiastic and trying his best in all he does.

YEAR 1:

Sophia Kalogerakos – Our focus this week is ‘always trying our best’. In every aspect of learning, Sophia always puts 100% effort in everything she does.

Harry Johnson – Harry can find it tricky to include finger spaces in his writing. However, this week, Harry has been using finger spaces!

YEAR 2:

Oliver Edge – For consistently being a model student and for his creative writing skills. Oliver has written grammatically correct complex and compound sentences.

Phoebe Collins – For her fabulous attitude in Maths this week, completing all her work correctly and even getting on to the challenges.

YEAR 3:

Antoni Kolad – Antoni has shown an increased engagement within classroom participation. He now readily puts his hand up on the carpet and embraces working partners.

Pixie Woolley – Pixie is always the first child on task when asked and will always give her best effort. This has been most noticeable in Literacy where she is now producing much more quality work in every lesson.

YEAR 4:

Jacob Wilder and George Reynolds – For working really hard in their independent writing. Both boys produced excellent work.

YEAR 5:

Tia-May Allan – Tia has been working really hard to improve her writing. This week she has produced several paragraphs which all make sense. Keep re-reading your work Tia and the success will continue.

Josh McNulty – Josh has written a paragraph which contains correctly punctuated speech.

YEAR 6:

Callum Brewster – Callum’s writing was very good indeed. He has shown how a character feels rather than simply told the reader that she was sad.

Jamie Turvey – For a wonderful final paragraph to Bess’s tale with a very sinister cliffhanger.

Well done to Reception class for winning the Attendance Ted for this week.

Well done to Y5 for winning the Reading Cup this week.
